APPRENTICESHIP OPPORTUNITIES WITH SHEET METAL WORKERS

EFFECTIVE DATE

This Bulletin is effective upon date of issue.

PURPOSE

This Bulletin provides information on the current Apprenticeship Program application process for careers through the Sheet Metal Workers' Local 105.

SHEET METAL WORKERS' APPRENTICESHIP

The Sheet Metal Workers' Local 105 apprenticeship Program is currently accepting applications for their current period apprentices. Along with craftsmen in the electrical, carpentry, and plumbing fields, sheet metal workers build homes and large commercial structures. The Sheet Metal Industry is unique in that it designs, manufactures and installs its own products. Sheet Metal Shop Workers take ordinary pieces of flat metal and make them into specialized products like duct systems and solar panels. These products are usually specially designed for particular construction projects.

Apprenticeships with the Sheet metal Workers are five years in length. Starting wages are $18.04 per hour plus benefits. Pay increases for apprentices who meet necessary qualifications occur every six months during the five-year training period. Requirements for acceptance include being 18 years of age (or 17, with a parent's approval), completion of high school diploma or G.E.D., and ability to pass aptitude tests upon acceptance of initial application.
